

WOW! Launches Business Home Office Solution to Help Companies and Teleworkers During COVID-19

Leading broadband provider's latest HSD product will keep employers connected while operating from home

Englewood, Colo. – September 8, 2020 – WOW! Internet, Cable & Phone (NYSE: WOW), a leading broadband services provider, today announced the company is offering a Business Home Office solution aimed at supporting small businesses and teleworkers who have had to adjust their plans to work from home as a result of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

The solution will work for all home-based businesses and teleworkers, offering fast and reliable internet service with competitive speed tiers to ensure any home-based business needs can be met. Add-ons such as WOW!'s Whole-Business Wi-Fi, Static IP and Hosted VoIP are also available to bundle to maximize the potential of WOW!'s Business Home Office solution.

“We know how important it is to stay connected, especially during these times of uncertainty. With increased demand and reliance on broadband services, now is the perfect opportunity to launch our new business solution,” said Teresa Elder, CEO of WOW!. “WOW! is committed to ensuring that our customers can continue to drive their businesses forward and meet the needs of their own clientele without worrying about their internet services.”

WOW! Business is also announcing the availability of National Numbers with Virtual Voice services which will allow customers to promote a local presence in locations across the country while efficiently managing these inbound calls from their location.
